Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 24 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mainly cloudy with rain at times. Becoming brighter later Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloudy with outbreaks of showery rain this evening and overnight. Low cloud will lead to some hill fog across the Peak District. A cooling northerly breeze will develop later. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Friday:
A cloudy start with intermittent light rain, then drier with isolated, heavy showers possible later. Some sunny spells will develop. Temperatures lower than Thursday in the breeze, especially near coasts. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Often dry through the weekend and Monday with variable cloud and sunny spells. Feeling warm inland, but cooler near coasts. Scattered, heavy or thundery showers are possible at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.